

Leonardo Beltran is member of the Board of Sustainable Energy for All; Fundación por México; the World Economic Forum's project on Partnering to Accelerate Sustainable Energy Innovation; and mentor of the regional program for Latin America of the Global Women's Network for the Energy Transition. Currently he is a Non-Resident Fellow at the Institute of the Americas, Executive Fellow and member of the Advisory Committee of the Extractive Resources Governance Program of the School of Public Policy of the University of Calgary, instructor to the Latin American Energy Organization (OLADE) and member of the editorial committee of Enerlac from OLADE, and a consultant to the Inter-American Development Bank, the United Nations Industrial Development Organization and the World Bank. He served in the government of Mexico as Deputy Secretary for Planning and Energy Transition (2012-2018), Director-General for Information and Energy Studies (2010-2012) and Director for International Negotiations (2005-2010) and a Consultant to BBVA Bancomer (2000-2003). Mr. Beltran has been a consultant also to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development. He holds a Masters in Public Administration in International Development from Harvard Kennedy School, a Bachelor of Science in Economics from Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México (ITAM), and studied Law at Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México (UNAM).